Tradition called for a piano and soloist performing at your ceremony and a DJ or live band entertained at your reception. Brides and Grooms are exploring other options for their guests' listening pleasure. String instruments are becoming very popular among today's bride. The harp, violin, cello, viola with a flute or oboe for a soothing classical sound can entertain your guests for hours.

You can only imagine the light romantic atmosphere that a harp can add as you are walking down the aisle to the wedding march. Your wedding will be the talk of the town with this different twist of events.

This type of music is best for the ceremony and the interim between the ceremony and the reception. Although, not the best music for you and your guests to dance to, it allows you to give your ceremony the elegance it deserves. Once you are ready for the party to get started, you can hire a DJ or live band to entertain at your reception.

Order a few demos from local string artists and get a feel for which instruments you enjoy the most. Reserve as soon as you decide which artist you like because they book up fast.

Also, keep in mind that jazz is very popular also. You can have a trumpet or saxophone play some mellow blues that you can definitely dance to at your reception.

Whichever type of music you decide on for your wedding and reception, make sure it is an event to remember.
